

Visions from India

21st-Century Art from the Pizzuti Collection

October 17, 2020 – January 10, 2021

Visions from India presents a breathtaking sweep of 21st-century painting, sculpture, and multimedia works from India and its diaspora. Featuring some of the most sought-after international artists alongside younger rising stars, this opulent exhibition is drawn from the renowned Pizzuti Collection in Columbus, Ohio.

The CMA is excited to bring forth this exclusive opportunity to see ultra-contemporary Indian art, which represents an exciting trend in global art collecting. The variety of work is astounding, as is the scale at times, ranging from video and photography to teak sculptures carved from architectural castoffs—relics of urban upheaval and change. The exhibition showcases a remixing of traditional crafts with radical new applications.

Cultural symbols such as bindis worn on the forehead or iconic metal lunch containers are appropriated for abstract “paintings” and motorized sculptures.

The most famous of the exhibition’s contemporary artists include Sudarshan Shetty, Bharti Kher, and Jitish Kallat. The entire exhibition is meant to surprise and delight, and the CMA is excited to expand its range of international presentations of contemporary art for our local and regional audiences. Based on private collectors Ron and Ann Pizzuti’s original 2017 presentation in Columbus, Ohio, this will be the only other opportunity to see Visions from India in the United States.
